UCT Coatings FailZero AR-15 Greaseless Tactical Upgrade

Our editor in chief recently found himself wishing for a painter's smock while on the firing line when testing an overly oiled firearm. The FailZero AR-15 Greaseless Tactical Upgrade kit enhances America's favorite rifle by eliminating wet-lube component failure, while providing optimum performance in a variety of conditions. Each part (bolt, bolt carrier, hammer, extractor, cam pin and gas key) is coated with EXO Technology: a patented treatment creating permanent dry lubrication on metal surfaces. The slick coating makes additional use of grease or oil unnecessary, and it keeps the components more clean. Contact UCT Coatings: (866) 214-6926; www.failzero.com

Buffer Technologies SIG P229 Recoil Buffer

Concealed-carry and duty pistols, much like a Hollywood cosmetic surgeon, can see heavy use. Much more than just a simple aesthetic alteration, the Buffer Technologies SIG P229 recoil buffer is made of high-density, shock-absorbing polyurethane that eliminates metal-to-metal impact during slide reciprocation and prolongs the service life of the pistol. Best of all, it has another benefit. Besides protecting against wear, it also reduces felt recoil and enhances muzzle control. Contact Buffer Technologies: (877) 628-3337; www.buffertech.com

Birchwood Casey Dirty Bird Silhouette III Targets

Tired of using the same old bullseye targets? Set your sights on something different with Birchwood Casey's new Dirty Bird Silhouette III. Designed to offer shooters a challenging and realistic training aid, these hostage-scenario targets are great for civilian, military and law enforcement training. A multi-colored coating flakes off upon bullet impact, revealing bright chartreuse to designate good hits or white to indicate poor shot placement. The targets are constructed of a durable, flexible plastic with a non-adhesive back, allowing shooters to affix them to a variety of surfaces. BOGgear TAC-35 Shooting Sticks

Well established among hunters and shooting enthusiasts, BOGgear has entered the tactical realm with its TAC series of shooting sticks, the most impressive of which is the TAC-3S. Its Universal Shooting Rest supports a wide variety of firearm stocks and can swivel 360 degrees. The tripod's legs extend from 6 to 40 inches and are capable of supporting firearms while the shooter is standing, sitting and even prone. The outer tubes have Vel-Coat—a non-glare finish capable of enhanced purchase and noise-damping qualities. There's also a scale on each leg for accurate height adjustments and level locks to create a rock-solid shooting rest. Contact BOGgear: (877) 264-7637; www.boggear.com

Timney Triggers Remington 870 Trigger Fix

Law enforcement officers, civilians concerned with home-defense and hunters all agree the Remington Model 870 is a shotgun that can be trusted. But, there's also consensus that its trigger could use some improvement. Now Timney has developed the solution through customer comments and feedback—the 870 Trigger Fix. It's designed to work with all 870 variations, providing shooters with a crisp, smooth trigger that is not only easy to install, but also fully adjustable. Each kit comes with a sear and three pull-weight springs (2, 3 and 4 pounds), along with a hex-head wrench. The result is a truly custom trigger set to your own specifications.
